

Exam Code: AIX 6.1 Basic Operations

Exam Name: IBM 000-103

Version: 3.00

1: An operator needs to schedule the script '/usr/scripts/listall.ksh' to run at 19:00 on the current day. What is the correct form of the 'at' command to accomplish this task?

- A. at 7 /usr/scripts/listall.ksh
- B. at 7 P /usr/scripts/listall.ksh
- C. at now + 7 /usr/scripts/listall.ksh
- D. at today + 7 p /usr/scripts/listall.ksh

Correct Answers: B

Explanation:

2: An operator needs to run a script which will write standard output and standard error to different files. Which of the following commands will successfully perform this task?

- A. myscript.ksh 1>/tmp/log/script.log 2>/tmp/log/script.err
- B. myscript.ksh $1>/tmp/log/script.log $2>/tmp/log/script.err
- C. myscript.ksh 1>/tmp/log/script.log 2>&1 /tmp/log/script/err
- D. myscript.ksh 2>&1 /tmp/log/script.log 2> /tmp/log/script.err

Correct Answers: A

Explanation:

3: An operator is in the middle of a file using 'more'. What subcommand can be used to go to previous page in the file?

- A. b
- B. p
- C. r

D.v

Correct Answers: A

Explanation:

4: A user is complaining that their display does not look correct. When the operator has the user run the command 'echo $TERM' the result is 'ascii', however, the /etc/environment file contains the line 'export TERM=vt100'. What is the likely cause of this difference?

- A.The user is not using a VT100 terminal
- B.The user's login shell is set to sh instead of ksh
- C.The user's .profile resets the TERM environment variable
- D.The /etc/profile file sets the TERM environment variable to 'ascii'

Correct Answers: C

Explanation:

5: Which command enables a user to exit the vi editor, overwriting the existing file without prompting for confirmation?

- A.:w
- B.:qw
- C.:x!
- D.:we!

Correct Answers: C

Explanation:

6: An operator is trying to perform an immediate power down of an AIX LPAR using the 'shutdown -k' command. The cursor has returned to the command prompt, but no shutdown activities are showing on the screen after more than one minute. Which of the following is the most likely cause of the problem?

- A.The /etc/rc.shutdown script is missing.
- B.The bos.rte.control fileset has become corrupted.